License Agreement

PLEASE READ THIS LICENSE AGREEMENT CAREFULLY BEFORE ACCESSING OR USING THE ELECTRONIC PUBLICATION(S). BY ACCESSING, DOWNLOADING, INSTALLING, OR USING THE PUBLICATION(S), YOU AGREE TO BE LEGALLY BOUND BY THIS AGREEMENT. IF YOU DO NOT AGREE TO THESE TERMS, DO NOT ACCESS, DOWNLOAD, INSTALL OR USE THE PUBLICATION(S).

1.0 Grant of License. CARF grants to Purchaser a limited, nonexclusive, nontransferable, revocable license to access and use the electronic CARF publication(s) purchased by Purchaser (individually and collectively, the "Publication") strictly in accordance with this Agreement. "Purchaser" means the individual or legal entity identified as the purchaser, licensee, or customer in the applicable Purchase Documentation. "Purchase Documentation" means CARF's applicable order confirmation, invoice, receipt, product description, or other purchasing record identifying the Publication, license type, Authorized Number of Users, price, and any license-specific conditions. No rights are granted except as expressly stated.

1.1 Single-User License. If Purchaser acquires a single-user license: (a) one (1) named individual employee or agent designated by Purchaser ("Single Authorized User") may access and use the Publication; and (b) access may be provided through (i) a single local hardware device owned or leased by Purchaser, or (ii) a cloud-based or virtualized environment tied to the Single Authorized User's credentials. The Single Authorized User may print one (1) copy of the Publication for personal use.

1.2 Multi-User License. If Purchaser acquires a multi-user license: (a) a number of named individual employees or agents designated by Purchaser, not to exceed the Authorized Number of Users stated on the applicable Purchase Documentation, may access and use the Publication ("Authorized Users"); and (b) Authorized Users may access the Publication through any combination of the following environments, provided that access controls ensure compliance with the Authorized Number of Users: (i) access on a number of local hardware devices owned or leased by Purchaser, up to the Authorized Number of Users; (ii) access through a Purchaser-owned or leased local area network or intranet, provided that technical and administrative controls prevent use beyond the Authorized Users; and (iii) access through cloud systems, virtual desktops, distributed servers, or identity-based SaaS access, provided that (A) access is authenticated via unique user credentials, and (B) technical controls (e.g., SSO, access logs, licensing monitors) restrict access to the Authorized Users. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Section 1.2, specific user identification of Authorized Users is not required if an unlimited-user license is purchased. Purchaser may print a number of copies up to the Authorized Number of Users unless otherwise specified in the Purchase Documentation.

2.0 Audit Rights. Purchaser authorizes CARF to audit compliance with this Agreement via examination of Purchaser's books, records, accounts, system logs, SSO/identity records, vendor-hosting reports, and other relevant information, as well as access information maintained by third-party cloud or hosting providers acting on Purchaser's behalf. Purchaser shall maintain accurate access logs and user records. Audits will occur during normal business hours with reasonable advance notice. If an audit reveals underpayment or non-compliance, Purchaser shall immediately pay all required fees and/or CARF may terminate the license, as CARF may determine in its sole discretion. Any information disclosed or made available in connection with an audit (including access logs, SSO/identity records, or hosting-provider reports) will be requested and used solely for the purpose of verifying Purchaser's compliance with this Agreement, including the number and scope of Authorized Users, and any fees owed. CARF will request, and Purchaser will provide, the least amount and least sensitive information reasonably necessary to verify compliance. Where reasonably sufficient, Purchaser may satisfy an audit request by providing (i) a written certification by an authorized representative, (ii) aggregated usage reports, and/or (iii) redacted or pseudonymized records that allow verification of unique users and access levels without revealing unnecessary personal data. Purchaser may redact nonessential personal data and may pseudonymize user identifiers (e.g., via hashing) provided that the information remains adequate for CARF to verify compliance. Upon CARF's reasonable request where redaction/pseudonymization prevents verification, Purchaser will provide additional detail limited to what is necessary to complete the audit. CARF will maintain appropriate technical and organizational measures to protect audit information and will limit access to personnel or auditors with a need to know, who are bound by confidentiality obligations. To the extent audit information includes personal data subject to GDPR, UK GDPR, or similar data protection laws and is transferred internationally, the parties will implement an appropriate transfer mechanism and safeguards as required (including, where applicable, the EU Standard Contractual Clauses and any UK-required addendum or equivalent mechanism). Each party will comply with applicable data protection laws in connection with audit-related processing and disclosures. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Purchaser must provide information sufficient for CARF or its auditor to independently verify unique users and access levels.

3.0 Proprietary Notices. Purchaser must maintain and reproduce in the same form and manner all copyright and proprietary notices on all copies or printouts of the Publication.

4.0 Restrictions on Use and Dissemination. Except as expressly permitted herein, Purchaser shall not: (a) share, distribute, or make the Publication available to anyone other than Authorized Users; (b) post the Publication on public-facing websites or unrestricted networks; (c) provide access to third parties; (d) copy, reproduce, republish, transmit, store, duplicate, or otherwise make the Publication or any portion thereof available in any form to any person other than an Authorized User; or (e) allow users to share credentials. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Purchaser may use third-party hosting, identity-management, backup, or IT administration services solely as technical intermediaries for Purchaser's internal use by Authorized Users, provided that such providers obtain no independent right to access or use the Publication except as necessary to provide such services and Purchaser remains fully responsible for their compliance and Purchaser binds such third parties by written obligations of confidentiality and restricted use at least as protective as those set forth in this Agreement.

5.0 Other Prohibited Actions. Purchaser shall not: (a) remove proprietary notices; (b) modify, adapt, translate, or create derivative works of the Publication; (c) reverse-engineer, decompile, disassemble, or attempt to reproduce CARF's source materials; (d) use automated tools to scrape or extract content; or (e) not use the Publication, in whole or in part, to train, fine-tune, ground, augment, evaluate, or improve any artificial-intelligence or machine-learning model or service, or upload the Publication to any third-party AI service, except that Purchaser may use an enterprise AI service solely as a technical intermediary for Authorized Users if the service does not use the Publication to train or improve models available to other customers, does not retain the Publication beyond the period necessary to provide the service, and is subject to written confidentiality, security, and restricted-use obligations consistent with this Agreement.

6.0 Ownership and Security. The Publication is the intellectual property of CARF. Purchaser agrees to: (a) treat the Publication as confidential; (b) maintain reasonable and industry-standard security controls over access; and (c) prevent access by unauthorized users. Ownership of the Publication remains exclusively with CARF. Purchaser shall ensure that any Single Authorized User or Authorized Users with permitted access to the Publication are bound by written obligations of confidentiality and restricted use at least as protective as those set forth in this Agreement.

7.0 Limited Warranty. CARF warrants for ninety (90) days from delivery that the Publication will contain its intended contents. This limited warranty extends only to Purchaser as the original licensee. Except as expressly stated in this Section, the Publication is provided "AS IS." CARF does not warrant that the Publication will be error-free or that access to or use of the Publication will be uninterrupted. This limited warranty does not apply to issues arising from misuse, unauthorized modifications, external system failures, internet or connectivity failures, third-party hosting or platform failures, or Purchaser's failure to maintain compatible systems and security controls. Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy, and CARF's entire liability under this limited warranty, shall be replacement, re-delivery, or correction of the Publication or access thereto, at CARF's option.

8.0 Disclaimer of Warranties. ALL OTHER WARRANTIES, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO IMPLIED WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY, FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE, NON-INFRINGEMENT, AND ANY ARISING FROM USAGE OR TRADE, ARE EXPRESSLY DISCLAIMED TO THE MAXIMUM EXTENT PERMITTED BY LAW.

9.0 Limitation of Liability. CARF shall not be liable for indirect, incidental, punitive, special, or consequential damages, including loss of revenue, data, or profits, however caused and regardless of the theory of liability, even if advised of the possibility of such damages. CARF's total cumulative liability shall not exceed the purchase price of the Publication. The foregoing limitations apply even if any limited remedy fails of its essential purpose.

10.0 Term and Termination. This Agreement remains in effect until terminated as described herein. Purchaser may terminate by ceasing all use and destroying all copies. CARF may terminate immediately upon written notice if it reasonably believes Purchaser has breached any provision of this Agreement. After termination, Purchaser must promptly cease use and destroy all copies, disable all credentials and access, remove the Publication from all hosted repositories, shared drives, and VDI images, and certify destruction/deletion upon request.

11.0 Assignment. Purchaser may not assign this Agreement without CARF's prior written consent.

12.0 Severability. If any provision is found unenforceable, remaining provisions remain in effect.

13.0 Governing Law. This Agreement is governed by the laws of the State of Arizona.

14.0 Disputes. Disputes shall be resolved by binding arbitration in Tucson, Arizona, under AAA commercial rules. Notwithstanding the foregoing, nothing herein prevents CARF from seeking temporary or injunctive relief in the local, state or federal courts in Arizona to protect intellectual property or confidential information. Purchaser hereby submits to personal jurisdiction in such courts.

15.0 Entire Agreement. This Agreement represents the parties' entire understanding regarding the Publication.

16.0 Survival. Termination or expiration of this Agreement shall not relieve Purchaser of any obligation that accrued prior to such termination, nor shall it affect any provision of this Agreement that by its nature is intended to survive. Without limiting the foregoing, the following provisions shall survive: Sections 2.0 (Audit Rights), solely for purposes of verifying compliance occurring prior to termination or expiration; 3.0 (Proprietary Notices); 4.0 (Restrictions on Use and Dissemination); 5.0 (Other Prohibited Actions); 6.0 (Ownership and Security), including all confidentiality, security, and proprietary-rights obligations; 7.0 (Limited Warranty), 8.0 (Disclaimer of Warranties), and 9.0 (Limitation of Liability), to the extent applicable; and Sections 13.0 (Governing Law), 14.0 (Disputes), and 15.0 (Entire Agreement), as well as all accrued payment obligations, rights, remedies, and any provisions required for the interpretation, enforcement, or resolution of disputes arising out of this Agreement.
